

Private Plane Use Admitted by Bumpers

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Dale Bumpers campaign organization acknowledged today that the Democratic gubernatorial nominee and some of his aides have utilized aircraft owned by other Arkansians including some belonging to well-known business figures.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican nominee for a third term, suggested last week that reporters might find something interesting if they checked on the airplanes used by the Bumpers campaign staff.

Quered by a newsman, a Bumpers campaign official provided a list of people who have loaned airplanes to the Democratic nominee's campaign.

"The planes have been offered and the owners were made aware that, like every contribution, we would accept it if there were no strings attached," the spokesman said.

Some of the owners, contacted by reporters, said their planes were offered without any request for or promise of favors from Bumpers if he should win in the Nov. 3 general election against Rockefeller and Walter Carruth of Lexa, the American party nominee.

One of the owners, David Ryles of Booneville, a real estate developer, said his plane would have been available as well to Rockefeller if the governor had needed it and requested the use of it. Rockefeller, however, has several planes of his own.

The spokesman for Bumpers said the list given to the newsman might not be complete, but that efforts were being made to prepare a complete list in case further questions arose.

The spokesman added that some of the planes offered to the campaign have not been used at all, some have been used by Bumpers, and some have been used only by aides to Bumpers.

Ryles said his plane was used only once. He said the Bumpers people had been referred to him by a man they knew in the Clarksville area. Bumpers needed to fly from Clarksville to Hot Springs and Ryles agreed to permit the use of the aircraft.

"The other candidates were going to Hot Springs, too for a labor meeting I think," Ryles said. "Gov. Rockefeller's plane took off from Clarksville just before I landed."

Asked if he supported Bumpers, Ryles said, "I'm nonpolitical. It doesn't matter to me who is governor. I would have loaned my plane to Gov. Rockefeller under the same circumstances."

A spokesman also said a Bumpers aide flew once from Little Rock to DeQueen on an airplane belonging to Lee Cazort Jr. of Little Rock.

Cazort, contacted by a reporter, said he had voted twice for Rockefeller, believed the governor had done a good job, but added that Rockefeller had been in office long enough and that Bumpers seemed to offer fresh leadership possibilities.

Mayor Thinks Incident Was Almost a Riot

DETROIT (AP)—Acting Mayor Mel Ravitz, who used his body as a shield to guarantee the safe surrender of Black Panthers in a police slaying, says "patience, discipline and hardheaded common sense" kept the incident from being a "showdown—a holocaust."

Meanwhile, 15 black youths were charged Sunday with murder in the shooting death of Patrolman Glenn E. Smith, 26, a Negro. He was shot in the head near the headquarters of the National Committee to Combat Fascism, a Panther organizing group.

Police said they arrested two other persons in connection with the burning of three cars, including two police vehicles.

Heavily armed police waited in the shadows for nine hours Saturday night and early Sunday as black attorneys and a black newspaperwoman entered the headquarters and convinced 12 of the charged youths to give themselves up.

Constitution Discussed at Club Meet

Compromises were necessary when drawing up the proposed new state constitution," said Bill Etter of Washington, a delegate to the Constitutional Convention who spoke at the Hope Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting last Friday in the Town and Country.

Introduced by Robert LaGrone, the speaker said that he was not in agreement with all parts of the proposed document, but it was his opinion that there were enough improvements in it over the 1,874 document to make it a more desirable constitution. He spoke briefly on various phases of it, including right and protection, government powers, the General Assembly, taxes and the courts, but he stressed the most important aspect was the reform in county government which it presented.

Public disinterest could spell defeat for this new constitution, so the people of Arkansas should take an affirmative stand in order to pass it as the polls November 3. "This will be the single most important vote you will cast in this century," Mr. Etter said.

In the absence of the president and the vice-president, the immediate past president, Benny Coleman, had charge of the business meeting. Two visiting Rotarians, Bill Ramsey of Warsaw, Ind., and Tom Callan of Nashville, and Mrs. Ramsey were guests.

$2.6 Million for Parks Is Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Parks, Recreation and Travel Commission Saturday approved a $2,647,750 capital improvement program for state parks contingent on legislative action to fund the program from the real estate transfer tax revenues.

The commission took that action after State Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin told commission members they should not tie the improvement program in with their own revenue program. Parkin said that if the legislature knew the commission could finance the program without an appropriation from the transfer tax, they would not make the appropriation.

He suggested that the commission make the improvement program contingent on receiving proceeds from the tax.

Bell attended the meeting with a Forrest City group interested in the Village Creek Park project near Forrest City. The park is part of the park improvement package.

State Parks Director Lloyd E. Surles proposed that the commission approve a capital improvements bond issue for state parks that would be financed with $150,000 annually from state parks revenues.

Surles said that if the legislature did allocate funds to the commission from the transfer tax, then that money could be used to retire the bond.

"There is a strong sentiment in the legislature to repeal the whole thing (the tax)," Bell said. "They think it's too high."

The tax is $3 per $1,000 paid for real estate.

Goodell Is Determined to Stay in

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell said today a factor in his decision to remain in the three-way Senate race was a belief that "if I withdrew at this point, I would be handing my head to Vice President Agnew on a platter."

Goodell, bucking the effects of a White House disavowal and a polling showing him trailing, spoke at a news conference where he received endorsements from 18 Republican senators.

Six senators were present at La Guardia Airport and prepared to stump for Goodell upstate.

Nobel Prize to American for Economics

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was awarded the 1970 Nobel Prize in economics today. The prize committee said he "has done more than any other contemporary economist to raise the level of scientific analysis in economic theory."

Called by a newsman at his home in a Boston suburb, Samuelson said he had "no idea I'd be winning." He said he would go to his office as usual today— "my wife won't let me stay home, not with the phones ringing like this."

The prize committee reportedly chose Samuelson from about 50 nominees, including Prof. Milton Friedman, an adviser to President Nixon, and Prof. Vasily Kantorovich, the Soviet economic mathematician.

The 55-year-old professor was honored for the "scientific work through which he has developed static and dynamic economic theory and actively contributed to raising the level of analysis in economic science," the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said in its citation.

It was the fourth of the six 1970 awards from the fortune left by Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. The awards, worth $80,000 each, have also gone this year to American agronomist Norman Ernest Borlaug for his contribution to the cause of peace; Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the Russian novelist, for literature; and three scientists—American biochemist Julius Axelrod, British biophysicist Sir Bernard Katz and Swedish physiologist Ulf von Euler—for medicine.

Still to be announced are the prizes for physics and chemistry.

The economics prize was set up two years ago by the Swedish Central Bank in connection with its 300th anniversary.

The Swedish Academy said Samuelson's "extensive production, covering nearly all areas of economic theory, is characterized by an outstanding ability to derive important new theorems, and to find new applications for existing ones."

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. THOMAS V. BRISCO

Miss Judy Carol Gunter became the bride of Thomas Vester Brisco at four o'clock in the afternoon Saturday, September 26 in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Ashdown.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harold C. Gunter and the late Mr. Gunter of Wilton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brisco of Wake Village, Tex.

The Rev. Harold Brewer of Ashdown and the Rev. Jack Gilbert of Memphis, Tenn., officiated at the double ring ceremony before a background of greenery. Southern smilax hung in festoons from the choir and baptistry rails outlined with rows of white lighted candles. Four, nine branched candelabra entwined with smilax and holding white tapers completed the background decorations.

Pews were marked with two branched candelabra decorated with greenery, tied with white satin bows.

Prior to the ceremony John C. Finley III of Ashdown presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied John King of Hope, soloist, cousin of the bride, who sang "Whither Thou Goest." He sang "A Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt on the prie dieu for the benediction.

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, James Gunter Jr., of Wilton, wore a formal length gown of ivory peau de soie fashioned with a Victorian neckline, lantern sleeves with ruffled cuffs. The bodice featured reemboiled Alencon lace appliques frosted with pearls. Appliques extended down the front of the A-line skirt and trimmed the end of the detachable train which was concealed by a belted back.

An elbow length mantilla of French imported silk illusion bordered with Alencon lace and pearls was attached to a half moon headpiece. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a cascade of white roses, centered with a single yellow throat white orchid.

Before the bride approached the altar she presented her mother, with a candlelight rose and upon leaving the altar she gave one to the bridegroom's mother.

The tradition of something old, new, borrowed, blue and six pence in her shoe was observed.

Maid of honor was Miss Haven Hill of Memphis, Tenn., roommate of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Teressa Edding, Mrs. Ernie Freeman both of Memphis, cousin of the bride and Miss Julianna Fawcett of Ashdown.

They wore identical formal length gowns of emerald green chiffon fashioned with ivory Venice lace bodice, bishop sleeves cuffed neckline accented by a tiny ruffle. Matching green satin cummerbunds ended in a bow at the waistline. In their hair were emerald satin bows. They each carried a single long stemmed candlelight rose.

Michael Brisco of Arkadelphia served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Mack Sisson of Arkadelphia, Jim Mowrey of Little Rock and Larry Frisby of Memphis, Tenn.

Charles Beyerley of Hope, cousin of the bride and Tim Melton of Arkadelphia served as ushers and candlelighters.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Gunter chose a dress of green silk with matching accessories. Mrs. Brisco, mother of the bridegroom, wore a yellow silk dress with matching accessories. Both mothers had an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. Miss Marjorie Stephens invited the guests into the reception room and presented them to the receiving line.

Mrs. David Singleton of Canyon, Texas, sister of the bridegroom was in charge of the bride's book which was placed on a satin covered table.

A floor length white cloth overlaid with embroidered organly covered the bride's table which was centered with an arrangement of candlelight roses flanked by lighted candles on silver candelabra. Alternating with the serving of the four tiered wedding cake decorated with living roses and the punch were Mrs. James Gunter Jr. of Wilton, aunt of the bride, Mrs. James H. Gunter of Ashdown, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Homer Beyerley and Mrs. Frank King of Hope, aunts of the bride.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Somewhere toward the end of Sunday night's "The Wacky Zoo of Morgan City," a self-seeking politician was advised, "Never go against children or animals."

The statement, made in the course of a multipart story spun on NBC's "Wonderful World of Disney," probably expresses as well as anything the premise that has kept the series on network air for 17 years.

Kids and animals occupy the Disney limelight much of the time. Its strength is in broad family appeal that has been building up since Disney first hit the small screens—in 1954—with a Davy Crockett series starring Fess Parker.

The most recent effort was rather typical of one type of presentation—a simple, light-hearted story that glorified children and animals. The adults are almost secondary in importance. The series is real anthology, however, with a mix of drama, adventure, comedy, occasional cartoons and—probably best of all—camera studies of animal life in the wilds.

NBC launched still another of those made-for-TV "World Premiere" features Saturday night which, more than anything, demonstrated the chance quality of the series. This was a strange hybrid that might have resulted by cross-breeding "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" with a Cousteau under-sea report.

It was called "The Aquarians," and since it was turned out by Ivan Tors who made "Flipper" and "Daktari," was probably designed as a pilot for a series. It was an elaborate science fiction story about under-sea explorers, using the kind of equipment that specializes in twinkling lights as they probed the dangerous depths.

The underwater photography was interesting. Things got really sticky when the plot was un-centered with an arrangement of gold mums. Miss Peggy King of Hope, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Tim Jester of Alexandria, La., served the chocolate cake and coffee.

Others assisting with the serving were Miss Sue Fawcett, Mrs. Olen Mitchell Jr. of Ashdown, Mrs. Mack Sisson of Arkadelphia and Mrs. Jim Mowrey of Little Rock.

Rice bags were distributed by Sherri Lynn and Teresa Ann Gunter of Ashdown.

For travel the bride chose a blue knit suit trimmed in white and white accessories. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned at her shoulder.

After a wedding trip the couple will reside at Crenshaw, Miss., where the bridegroom is pastor of the First Baptist Church. The bride will commute each day to Memphis, Tenn., to continue her studies at the Baptist Memorial School of Nursing.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gunter Jr., of Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beyerley and Mrs. Frank King of Hope entertained the Brisco-Gunter wedding party with a dinner after the rehearsal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Gunter in Ashdown. The informal meal served buffet style was held in the back yard which was lighted with hurricane lamps. Places were laid at small tables for 30 guests.

GUEST COLUMNIST TELLS WHEN HONEYMOON IS OVER

Today — a guest columnist: Alfred Allen, whose "On the Light Side" appears in the Sacramento BEE, brightens up a blue Monday. Forthwith:

A June bride asks plaintively, "When is the honeymoon over?"

An excellent question, Virginia! We will attempt to give you an answer — the "we" referring to a baker's dozen marriage experts experienced but unlicensed. They hold no degree in psychology but their experience has been gained in the toughest proving ground of all — marriage.

These are not summer soldiers but rather well-seasoned husbands, who relish the sting of marital battle. Only one is unmarried; or, as he prefers to say, between wives.

There is a strong parallel between marriage and warfare, Virginia, which we could extend were it not for the fear it might prove distressing. In marriage the triumphant march from the altar all too often is not the culmination of a victorious campaign but rather the beginning of a civil war.

The sentimental will say that to the man and woman who are right for each other, the honeymoon is never over. Others will say your query is like asking how much it costs to own a yacht — if you ask, you can't afford it — and if you are asking yourself if the honeymoon is over, it is.

To take the middle ground, we offer some general guidelines. We believe the honeymoon is over when:

...Ten minutes after he comes home he can't remember whether he kissed you or not.

...He ignores your suggestion it would be fun to have a joint checking account.

...He refuses to let you blow your nose in his handkerchief — a trick he seemed to think was rather cute when you were courting.

...If you would let him, he'd spend all weekend sitting in front of the TV, drinking beer and watching one ballgame after another.

...He can't or won't remember the names of your girl friends. He refers to them not as Irma Jean or Gladys or Suzy, but the

"the fat, blonde broad" or "the skinny broad with glasses" or "old Motormouth."

... He takes you up on your suggestion that since he has been so quick-tempered and mean recently it might be a good idea if he had a night out with the boys.

... You complain, "You never tell me you love me anymore," and he says, "I married you, didn't I?"

... He doesn't seem to care when you catch him eyeing — "positively leering" — at that brassy dame with the practically see-through blouse and far-too-short mini.

... You hear him cussing the bathroom because your nylons are hanging all over the place.

... He blows his cool and calls you a dumb broad because you drove a few blocks on a flat tire. He is quite unmoved by the logic of your statement that "The machine is made for man, not man for the machine." He shouts, "Logic, hell! That was a brand new $52.50 tire!"

... He says nothing when you tearfully threaten to go home to mother unless he admits he is wrong and says he is sorry. Instead, he fetches your suitcase from the hall closet.

The considered opinion of our experts is that if any three of the above apply in your case, the honeymoon indeed is over.

However, even if you have three strikes on you, so to speak, we caution against despair or even disillusionment. You might be surprised to learn the batting average of many marriages is low but somehow, for some strange reason, those involved just keep swinging away. — ALFRED ALLEN

By HARRY KING
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas-Wichita State game was one of a kind from start to finish.
The contest matched the ninth-ranked Razorbacks against a team victimized by an Oct. 2 plane crash that killed 13 players and Head Coach Ben Wilson.
Before the kickoff, a crowd of 40,000 gave the gallant Wheatshockers a standing ovation.
When the game ended, Arkansas players flooded onto the field to shake the hands of their opponents and offer words of encouragement.
"That was the first time I have ever seen that happen in a football game," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles.

The outcome was never in doubt. Arkansas' first team put 17 points on the scoreboard in seven minutes and retired for the evening. The final margin was 62-0.

Because of the unique circumstances, Broyles said the Arkansas coaches dreaded the week before the game.

"We didn't try to get them emotionally involved," he said. "There were no pep talks. That should have been out of order."

"We just worked on block and tackling for Texas A&M and let the score take care of itself," Broyles said.

"I was never more proud of our fans, our student body and our players."

Tailback Bill Burnett, who has a chance at Steve Owens' career touchdown record, didn't suit out even though Broyles said he could have played.

"This game will hurt Bill Montgomery's average and the statistics of Chuck Dicus," Broyles said. "Bill Burnett could have scored a couple of touchdowns but it wasn't that kind of game."

Down the line, the Razorbacks will benefit from the outing.

Arkansas does not scrimmage after the season begins and the game film will give the coaches an opportunity to look at some of the younger players in game situations.

The morale of the second and third units also gets a boost.

The score mounted when Joe Ferguson and Walter Nelson followed Montgomery to the firing line. Broyles was asked why he didn't instruct the two quarterbacks to hold down the score.

"You can't put in Ferguson and Nelson and tell them to just hand off," Broyles said. "It destroys their morale and it's an insult to the other team."

Jon Richardson's 66-yard punt return in the opening minutes will also help, Broyles said.

"Breaking one all the way gets the adrenalin flowing," Broyles said. "It will help us all year on our blocks down field."

Lindsey Tried But Couldn't Stop State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Abilene Christian College quarterback Jim Lindsey pulled all the stops — set a Southland Conference and school record with 414 yards passing for three touchdowns — and still the Wildcats lost to Arkansas State, the nation's No. 1 ranked small college team.

It took two fourth quarter touchdowns by James Hamilton for Arkansas State to finally hammer out a 28-23 decision over the Wildcats for their sixth straight victory of the season.

Lindsey completed 33 of 63 passes for 414 yards and the three touchdowns — all to split end Ronnie Vinson, who caught 13 aeriels for 193 yards.

This week, it's Lamar Tech that tries to break the Arkansas State stranglehold on the SLC lead. In other games West Texas State is at Texas-Arlington; Abilene Christian is at Drake and Trinity has an open date.

Elsewhere last Saturday, Trinity blanked UT - Arlington 24-0 and Southwest Louisiana trimmed Lamar Tech 15-6.

Trinity, which normally sticks to the ground, unleashed Mike Curry on the Rebs and he passed for touchdowns of 16 and 11 yards.

Phil Rodgers, Tommy Aaron and Gene Littler tied at 280.

Ken Still Wins Kaiser Tournament

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
NAPA, Calif. (AP) — "I never gave up on myself," Ken Still said. "I struggled and fought and had troubles, but I never gave up on myself."

He was talking about the season-long slump that has plagued him, but the irrepressible Still could have been talking about the long, 37-hole wind-up that brought him the $30,000 first prize in the Kaiser International golf tournament Sunday.

Still, a 35-year-old bachelor who came into his own last season with his first two tour victories and a spot on the Ryder Cup team, had to whip tough Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey on the first extra hole of a sudden death playoff.

He had gone into the 36-hole finale — forced when Friday's play was rained out — with a two stroke lead. He took a 71 in the morning round and Trevino closed to within a single stroke.

And in the afternoon, Still lost, regained, then lost the lead again with three-putt bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes. That put him one stroke back of Trevino and Yancey, in the clubhouse with 278s, 10 under par.

He came to the 18th, a par five, needing a birdie to tie. Still chipped to eight feet and dropped the putt for a share.

Then on the first extra hole, Still ripped an iron to within three feet of the hole and made the birdie putt that secured it. Yancey had a par from a trap and Trevino, winner of two play-offs this season, was lying three and had no chance when Still made it.

"I just said to myself, 'Okay, grandma, here we go,'" Still said, and explained his grandmother, Mrs. Mary McCready, died last week and he had dedicated the tournament to her.

"I'd have done the same thing whether I had finished 50th or first," Still said.

"It's tough work," he said. "You have to keep your composure all the way."

He finished with a final 72. Trevino had a 71 and Yancey a 70.

Rookie Jerry Heard, first-round leader Jack Montgomery and stormy Dave Hill tied for fourth at 279, one stroke back. Montgomery had a final 71 and Heard a 67.

Phil Rodgers, Tommy Aaron and Gene Littler tied at 280.

Clay Makes Combat in Bout Tonight

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Muhammad Ali, lecturer, actor and fast food dealer, returns to his true profession of prize fighting tonight in a scheduled 15-round bout against Jerry Quarry.

"This how I earn my living; this is my job," said Ali on the eve of his first fight since being stripped of his heavyweight championship following his conviction for refusing induction into the Army. The conviction still is being appealed.

During the time since he knocked out Zora Foley, March 22, 1967, Ali has lectured at colleges throughout the country, starred in the short-lived Broadway play "Buck White" and opened a chain of burger and french fry stands.

Despite his long absence from the ring, excepting a few exhibitions, Ali rules as the top heavy favorite in the fight which has drawn little gambling interest.

But there is general interest for the bout because of the controversial nature of Ali who rose to the boxing heights as Cassius Clay.

The fight, starting at 10:40 p.m. EST, will be shown on closed circuit television in the United States and Canada and will be beamed via satellite to Europe, South America, Asia and Russia.

With tickets for the 5,000-seat Atlanta Municipal Auditorium scaled from $15 to $100, and not all sold, and 900,000 seats available for closed circuit television, the projected gross for the fight is $3 million. Ali has been guaranteed $200,000 against 42½ per cent of the gross which would bring him about $1.25 million. Quarry is guaranteed $100,000 against 22½ per cent.

A victory for Ali would set the stage for a big money fight with Joe Frazier who ascended to the title during Ali's exile. And an upset by Quarry would give the Californian another shot at Frazier who knocked him out in seven rounds June 23, 1969.

However, Frazier must first defend his title against light heavyweight king Bob Foster Nov. 18 in Detroit.

Just getting a license to fight in Atlanta was a victory for Ali who had seen numerous attempts for fights foiled since his conviction. Gov. Lester Maddox has publicly opposed the fight but he cannot legally stop it because Georgia has no state boxing commission.

Ali, who has reach and weight advantage over Quarry, turned to the punch-for-pay ranks after winning the Olympic heavyweight title for the United States in 1960 and has won all 29 of his pro fights, 23 by knockout.

Quarry, who considers this a championship fight since "Ali never lost the title in the ring," is expected to try to mount a body attack in an effort to tire Ali. He has a record of 37 victories, 23 by knockout; four losses and four draws. He has been knocked out twice, by Frazier and by George Chuvalo.

Ali, 28, won the title by stopping Sonny Liston in seven rounds when Liston quit in his corner in Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 25, 1964. His first title defense was a controversial one-round knockout of Liston in Lewiston, Maine, May 25, 1965.

He then went on to defend his title seven more times, winning five of the fights on knockouts. In the other two, he scored 15-round decisions over Chuvalo and Ernie Terrell.

Foster and Hayes Lead Cowboys

By DICK COUCH

Hank Stram has been short-changed by the Dallas Cowboys — Duane Foster and Bob Hayes splitting the difference.

Foster and Hayes exploded for game-breaking touchdowns in the third quarter Sunday as the Cowboys bounced back from their darkest National Football League hour to whip Stram's Kansas City Chiefs 27-16.

Hayes, making his first start of the season, turned a Craig Morton pass into an 89-yard scoring burst minutes after Foster, a hard-running rookie, sped 47 yards for a touchdown.

"Those plays were the difference," said Stram, whose Super Bowl champs were jeered by a home crowd of 51,158 as they absorbed their third setback in six games.

The victory gave Dallas a 4-2 mark and a share of first place in the National Conference's Eastern Division—one week after the Cowboys took a 54-13 pounding from Minnesota.

"We didn't do anything different against Kansas City," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry insisted. "We just played football. We didn't play football against Minnesota."

Fran Tarkenton's five touchdown passes led the New York Giants past St. Louis 35-17, dropping the Cardinals into a tie with Dallas for the NFC East lead.

Elsewhere, 43-year-old George Blanda fired Oakland to a 31-14 victory over Pittsburgh; Baltimore drubbed Boston 27-3; Cleveland pounded Miami 28-0; Washington blanked Cincinnati 20-0; Detroit shaded Chicago 16-10; Green Bay topped Philadelphia 30-17; San Francisco edged Denver 19-14; Atlanta trimmed New Orleans 32-14; Buffalo nipped the New York Jets 10-6 and San Diego played Houston to a 31-31 standoff.

Minnesota entertains Los Angeles tonight in a nationally televised clash of NFL powerhouses.

goals the rest of the way. Thomas, shouldering the running lead after Calvin Hill went out with a muscle spasm, scored the go-ahead touchdown on a short plunge after Mike Clark booted a pair of field goals.

The 220-pound Thomas tallied the decisive touchdown on a draw play before Hayes took Morton's pass on the Dallas 45 and raced the rest of the way for the wrap-up score.

Tarkenton sent the Giants to their third straight victory, snapping a four-game St. Louis winning streak in the process, with the first five-touchdown spree of his career.

He completed all of his 10 pass attempts in the first half and was 15-for-18 over-all, with two scoring strikes to rookie Bob Tucker and one each to Aaron Thomas, Clifton McNeil and Don Herrmann.

Blanda came off the Oakland bench after Daryle Lamonica was sidelined by a pinched nerve in his back and riddled the Steelers with three touchdown passes. He also booted a field goal and four extra points.

The Colts spilled Joe Kapp seven times for losses and picked off three of his passes while Johnny Unitas split the Patriots' secondary for three scores.

The Colts' fourth straight victory, coupled with Miami's loss to Cleveland, sent them into sole possession of first place in the American Conference's Eastern Division.

Bill Neisen passed for two Cleveland scores and linebacker Dale Lindsey rambled 56 yards with a pass interception for another as the AFC's Central Division leaders battered the Dolphins before a crowd of 75,313—largest ever to see a Miami regular season game.

Washington posted its first shutout victory in six years, stopping the Bengals cold while Sonny Jurgensen and Charlie Taylor combined on a pair of touchdown strikes.

The Lions came from behind at Chicago for their fifth victory in six starts as Errol Mann booted field goals of 49, 43 and 31 yards.

Three field goals by Dale Livingston and a 76-yard interception return by Doug Hart led Green Bay past the winless Eagles.

Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals as San Francisco overcame the Broncos for a 4-1-1 mark.

Ohio State Has a Time With Illinois

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Illinois and Wichita State were losers on the football field Saturday, but came out winners anyway. The Illini won back their coach and Wichita State won the hearts of football fans everywhere.

The final scores—Ohio State 48, Illinois 29 and Arkansas 62, Wichita State 0—were almost immaterial. The Illinois players gave the top-ranked Buckeyes fits for three periods and then announced they would not play the final four games if the university's athletic board went through with plans to fire Coach Jim Valek.

The rebellion proved successful Sunday night when the board succumbed and reinstated Valek for the rest of the season, but made it clear a new coach was favored for 1971. The Illini have lost four of six starts this season and Valek has a 7-29 record in four years.

Wichita State resumed its football program following the Oct. 2 plane crash that took the lives of 30 persons, including 13 players, all of them first-stringers. Captain John Hoheisel, his leg in a cast as a result of the crash, hobbled out to midfield for the pre-game coin toss and the Shockers received a standing ovation from the crowd in Little Rock when they took the field.

"It was a funny feeling, going out on the field," said Hoheisel. "I wish I was out there playing. But I guess I should be glad to be alive. Just after that plane crashed I didn't think I would ever see another football game."

"These are great people," said Bob Seaman, who replaced the late Ben Wilson as head coach, "and Coach Frank Broyles is a fine gentleman. He could have made it 150-0, but he put in the second and third teams." Actually, Arkansas' first team sat down after seven minutes.

"I don't care what that thing says," summed up an Arkansas fan looking at the scoreboard. "They didn't lose."

While Ohio State was overtaking fired-up Illinois on the strength of John Brockington's three touchdowns, Texas, Nebraska and Michigan, rated second, fourth and fifth, respectively, in The Associated Press college football poll, posted easy victories but sixth-ranked Auburn bowed to No. 14 Louisiana State 17-9. Notre Dame, No. 3, was idle.

Texas trounced Rice 45-21 as Eddie Phillips scored three times and Steve Worster blasted for 170 yards and a record-tying 28th career touchdown. The Longhorns pulled into a tie with ninth-ranked Arkansas for the Southwest Conference lead.

Nebraska zoomed to a 41-7 halftime lead and crushed Oklahoma State 65-31, the Cornhuskers' biggest scoring output ever against a Big Eight foe. They lead the conference by one-half game over Kansas State.

The running of Billy Taylor (151 yards) and Fritz Seyferth (four touchdowns) powered Michigan past Minnesota and enabled the Wolverines to stay in a tie for the Big Ten lead with Ohio State and unranked Northwestern, which walloped Purdue 38-14.

LSUs victory ended Auburn's unbeaten record and enabled the Bayou Tigers to slip past the Alabamians as the chief threat to Mississippi in the Southeastern Conference, with Auburn, Tennessee and Mississippi State a notch behind.

First-half touchdowns by Andy Hamilton on a pass from Buddy Lee and Art Cantrelle's one-yard plunge gave the Tigers a 15-6 lead and a goal line stand with four minutes left preserved the lead.

Arkansas State Still Unbeaten

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Unbeaten Arkansas State University came up with two fourth-quarter touchdowns here Saturday night to edge Abilene Christian College 28-23.

Quarterback Jim Lindsey of ACC completed 33 of 63 passes for 414 yards including three touchdown throws to Ronnie Vinson. Lindsey broke Southland Conference records to total passing yardage and passes completed.

Arkansas State, however, used the rushing combination of tailbacks Calvin Harrell and Johnny Carr to take the SLC victory and move to 2-0 in conference play.

Carr broke over the goal line from three yards out to give the Indians a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

Abilene managed a field goal in the first period after driving to the ASU 25.

The Indians widened their lead to 14-3 in the second quarter when Harrell broke off tackle for an 11-yard burst and a touchdown. Bobby Gentry kicked the extra point.

ACC came back as Lindsey passed 24 yards to Vinson for a touchdown that capped a 73-yard drive.

The third period was scoreless, but things broke loose in the final quarter as Hamilton scored from 11 yards out on an option play and Gentry kicked the extra point to put ASU in the lead by a score of 21-10.

Lindsey again passed to Vinson for a TD, but the extra point attempt failed and ASU

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M. D.

Do You Want Poor Health?

Smoke Cigarettes and Suffer

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Doctor—I've heard that isometric exercises are good for you. What are isometric exercises? Are they good for the heart?

Dear Reader—Isometric exercises are those that involve tensing a muscle without moving it. As an example, hold out your arm and tense all the muscles in the arm and hand, making the arm and hand rigid. This form of tensing is an isometric exercise. The opposing muscles work or contract against each other. If the muscle moves, like in running, push-ups or any exercise causing lengthening or shortening of the muscle, it is NOT isometric. Isometric exercises firm up the muscles and increase their strength. It is doubtful that they help the heart and circulation in the way walking, jogging or active exercises do.

Cigarettes are high on the list of our "civilized" habits associated with poor health.

Cigarette consumption in the United States increased parallel to the rise in heart and vascular disease. Fatty deposits in the arteries and cigarettes were both rare before 1900. Only 4 billion cigarettes were manufactured in 1900 while the current level is 580 billion annually, or 145 times as many.

Cigarette smoking is a fairly recently acquired habit. Cigars, pipes, chewing tobacco and snuff used to be the major form of tobacco consumption.

You may associate cigarette smoking with lung cancer. But that is just the tip of the iceberg. They are implicated in a host of other diseases. The U.S. Department of Public Health points out that there are a million more people with chronic lung disease than there would be if everyone had the same rate observed in nonsmokers.

If you are a heavy smoker your chances of dropping dead or having a heart attack are increased about three times over the likelihood in nonsmokers.

There is a relationship between peptic ulcers and cigarette smoking. There are over a million more people with peptic ulcers each year than would occur at rates observed in nonsmokers. The more cigarettes you smoke the greater likelihood you will have a peptic ulcer. Even if you escape an actual ulcer you may develop a lot of trouble with your stomach that is akin to the difficulties associated with ulcers.

If you want to live a short life, cigarettes will help. A 25-year-old man who smokes two packs a day, on the average, will live eight years less than a comparable nonsmoker. The more cigarettes you smoke the greater your likelihood of an early death.

Cigarette smoking has decreased in both American men and women. Over 70 per cent of all men used to smoke. Now only 51 per cent smoke. Women cigarette smokers have decreased from 40 per cent to 34 per cent. Cigarette smoking for American men and women has decreased from 55 per cent to the current figure of 42 per cent. Since fewer young people are smoking today, there is reason to hope the rate will drop still farther.

The biggest strides in cutting back cigarette smoking have been observed in people who are better educated than others. Thus cigarette smoking is more and more getting to be a mark of the non-achiever or less-intelligent person.

Oswald: "East was just about right on that point but I have to charge most of the blame to East. East had a cinch play of the king of clubs when he got in with the king of spades. He could count two spades and two hearts, so that one club would be enough to set the contract."

Florida Seeks More Orange Juice Outlets

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Citrus growers awash in their own "liquid sunshine" are casting about for orange juice outlets into everything from cancer cures to shampoo.

It may even develop that the stuff is great for gout sufferers, folks with hardening of the arteries and aging practitioners of l'amour. Anyway, that's what the growers hope.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this season's orange crop at 168 million boxes. That's 23 million boxes above the 1966-67 record high of 145 million boxes, which brought growers only a break-even price of 75 cents a box.

Florida Citrus Mutual, a co-op representing more than 15,000 growers, has decided to seek new uses for the fruit as fast as possible.

"We're in a clutch situation now, and that's an understatement," said Tom Osborne, assistant general manager of Mutual.

"I think the industry is finally beginning to realize we've got to get into markets unrelated to the food category because the prospect of selling oranges through research is unlimited."

The Florida Citrus Research Council, a division of the Florida Department of Citrus, has already given preliminary approval for a study to determine the usefulness of orange juice in combating cancer.

The tentative okay was given after Dr. J. U. Schlegel of the Tulane University School of Medicine told the group ascorbic acid may have great value as an antioxidant in fighting cancer of the bladder. Orange juice is packed with ascorbic acid.

The role of orange juice, rich in vitamin C, in fighting gout, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, rheumatism of the muscles, thickening of the skin and even heart disease already is being probed by doctors.

The possibility of prolonging an aging person's sex activity with orange juice is being researched by a Japanese doctor, M. Higuchi.

"We've even got a guy who's working on a hair conditioner rinse made from orange peel oil," Osborne said.

Cleanup Plan Successful

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Owens-Illinois, Inc., plans to continue once-a-month environmental cleanup glass collections, a spokesman announced Thursday.

The company's first collection on Aug. 29 brought in 110,000 pounds of glass that might have become litter but instead wound up as a raw material for the manufacture of new glass.

The next collections will be conducted Saturday and on Nov. 21 and Dec. 19. Owens-Illinois pays one cent a pound for clean glass.

Egypt Wants UN to Help Regain Land

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt sought today to enlist the U.N. General Assembly in its drive to force Israel out of the territory it took from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the 1967 war.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad was to be the opening speaker in an assembly debate on the situation in the Middle East. Egypt asked for the debate.

Riad said he would demand "real implementation of the resolution" the Security Council adopted Nov. 22, 1967. It calls for Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories and Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist as a nation.

Acting at Egypt's request, a group of other African delegates have drawn up a resolution demanding that Israel resume the indirect talks with Egypt and Jordan which U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring arranged with himself as go-between. The resolution calls for a report to the assembly in two months, in effect giving Israel that length of time to end her boycott.

The resolution accuses the Israelis of obstructing Jarring's efforts, declares the acquisition of territory by force "inadmissible" and says Israel's continued occupation cannot be permitted. "This proposal, obviously Arab inspired, must be rejected out of hand," said an Israeli official in Jerusalem. Others said the African authors of the resolution should try to get the Soviet-Egyptian missiles removed from the Suez Canal zone "instead of always pointing the finger of blame at us."

Israel has said repeatedly that it will not return to the Jarring talks until Egypt pulls back Soviet anti-aircraft missiles which Israel and the United States charge have been moved closer to the Suez Canal in violation of the three-month ceasefire that began Aug. 7.

Indications were given Sunday that the United States is still backing Israel in that position. U.S. sources said: "There are violations, and rectification remains necessary."

Consuls Will Visit Generals Held in Russia

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Two U.S. consuls were flying to Soviet Armenia today to interview two American generals held since their light plane crossed the Turkish border five days ago. It was the U.S. government's first contact with the officers.

Soviet authorities granted permission Sunday for Consuls Peter C. Swiers and Richard Combs to visit Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Scherrer, chief of the U.S. military mission in Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr., chief of the mission's Army section.

The pilot of the generals' Beechcraft got lost in turbulent weather during a tour of bases in eastern Turkey and landed safely on Wednesday at Leninakan, just inside Soviet territory. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow requested prompt release of the plane, the generals, their American pilot and a Turkish escort officer. The Soviets refused, saying the plane "violated Soviet air space," but the United States said the violation was "clearly accidental."

Under the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty persons may be detained incommunicado for up to four days, and that deadline passed Sunday. Soviet officials remain noncommittal on when the plane and its occupants would be released, saying only that the incident was under investigation.

The Soviet press has mentioned the incident only in a short factual story last Friday, possibly indicating that the government does not plan to make an issue of it.

An embassy spokesman said the consuls would determine from the officers and their pilot, Army Maj. James P. Russell, exactly what happened. They also will check on the state of the men and under what conditions they are being detained.

Nixon Urging Silent Majority to Stand Up for GOP Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon believes his kind of campaigning may prove persuasive with vital, undecided voters in the Nov. 3 elections, and he is testing that judgment in 22 states, urging "the great silent majority to stand up and be counted" for Republican candidates.

It is a major political gamble. The President's late campaign sprint makes his own prestige one of the issues. It puts him out front, as Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had been, as the visible symbol of the GOP.

As Agnew put it, "I'm tremendously vulnerable" to the blame if Republicans fare badly. So, now, is Nixon himself.

White House officials say Nixon decided early in October to plunge actively into the campaign, a role he had assigned Agnew from the beginning.

"I knew he was going to come into the latter part of the campaign," Agnew said.

"The President has only done a light brush across the country," the vice president said. "I've been the virtually full time operator."

Nixon's campaign schedule involves a total of eight days; Agnew has been at it since Sept. 10. The vice president is covering at least 30 states, more than 30,000 miles, with more than 50 major appearances.

While the political risk factor is increased by Nixon's personal campaign, one White House official said the gamble was always there.

As he explained it, whether or not Nixon campaigned personal-

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of campaigning for the Nov. 3 election, House Democrats have begun politicking among themselves over a new party floor leader.

Aspirants to the leadership post, object of a wide open contest for the first time in 30 years with the retirement of Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, are already hunting votes. They will step up the pace when Congress returns Nov. 16.

By then, they will know how many and what kinds of Democrats have been elected. A Democratic sweep might shift the existing balance of power within the party and the prospects of various candidates with it.

There is no lack of candidates, either announced or waiting in the wings, for the majority leader post being relinquished by Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma. Albert is unopposed among Democrats for advancement to the speaker's chair.

Among the aspirants are Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the present whip or assistant leader, a Southerner with a voting record not wholly typical of his region; Morris K. Udall of Arizona and James G. O'Hara, both leaders in the liberal Democratic Study Group; Richard Bolling of Missouri, an outspoken critic of present House and party procedures; John E. Moss of California, who also has pushed for changes, and Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, known to his colleagues as something of a maverick with a sharp tongue.

So far, Boggs, has been the most active candidate, at least in the open. Excluding those who will certainly not be in the next Congress, because of retirement or primary defeat, there are about 70 Southern Democrats generally cast in the traditional mold and about 60 strongly ideological liberals.

This leaves about 100, sometimes called regular Democrats. Most of them are from urban areas with strong party organizations. Most tend to vote on the liberal side on bread and butter issues. Many belong to the Democratic Study Group but are not particularly active in it.

ly in closely contested states, the outcome of the congressional elections would be interpreted as victory or defeat for the administration. "There was, therefore, nothing to lose."

"I have never seen as many undecided voters in the polls," Nixon said, discussing his campaign in Columbus, Ohio. "The undecided voters are going to determine it. And that is why these appearances that all of us are making in the last two weeks may have some effect."

Nixon's crowds generally have been big ones; an estimated 50,000 in Columbus, Ohio; throngs along the streets and at a campus rally in Johnson City, Tenn. In Asheville, N.C., some 15,000 people stood in a drenching rain to listen to Nixon.

One exception: his Saturday appearance in the industrial, blue collar Baltimore suburb of Dundalk, Md. In those conservative but Democratic precincts, the crowds were relatively sparse. Democratic campaign posters festooned the front of the union hall where Nixon spoke.

One administration politician acknowledged GOP Senate victories are unlikely in some of the states Nixon is visiting, among them Illinois and Minnesota. But whatever the outcome, this man said, Nixon's campaigning now will stand him in good stead in 1972.

Agnew said Nixon's campaign entry has not led to any change in his own style or tactics. "All we do is try not to interfere with each other geographically," the vice president said.

Conviction for Murder Reversed

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today the first-degree murder conviction and death sentence given James Wiser in the shooting of a 14-year-old in Carroll County.

The Supreme Court said Eastern District of Carroll County Circuit Court erred in refusing to let Wiser withdraw a guilty plea after a jury had set the penalty as death by electrocution rather than a life imprisonment sentence Wiser had been led to expect.

The unanimous opinion written by Associate Justice Lyle Brown said that a change of plea could be granted "when it appears that the plea of guilty was based on a misapprehension of the facts or of the law, or in consequence of a misrepresentation by his own attorney, or the state's attorney or someone else in authority."

The record of the case revealed that Wiser had been advised by his attorney last April that a guilty plea would "gain the certainty that the death penalty would not be imposed."

When Wiser was questioned by the trial court, the judge said the penalty could be either life imprisonment or death "if asked by the state..." The jury was not qualified on the death penalty, and the Supreme Court said "the entire trial atmosphere was that of expectation of clemency" for Wiser.

However, a jury is permitted under Arkansas law to impose the death penalty even if capital punishment is not requested by the prosecution, and the Carroll County jury imposed that penalty although there was no request for the death penalty.

Brown wrote that the high court believed Wiser did not properly understand that the jury could give him the death penalty and ruled, therefore, that he should have been permitted to change his plea.

Wiser was found guilty last May 11 in the pistol slaying of Jimmie Lou Roe, daughter of a woman Wiser allegedly attempted to rape, on Dec. 10, 1969.

In other cases, the Supreme Court:

—Refused to overturn a Pulaski Circuit Court finding that the confession of Roy Raymond Johnson was voluntary when charged in 1962 with rape.

—Affirmed a Conway Circuit Court judgment of $20,000 to Alma Summers Wallace for a tract of land condemned by the Arkansas Highway Commission for highway construction.

It had been offered as an amendment to a proposal to amend the constitution to guarantee equal rights for women.

Israel Claims Egypt Has Advanced Missile System Along Suez

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — The chief of Israel's military intelligence department claimed today that Egypt and the Soviet Union "have set up one of the most advanced missile systems in the world" along the Suez Canal.

Gen. Aharon Yariv estimated that 500 to 600 missile launchers have been constructed inside the 30-mile zone just west of the canal in violation of the cease-fire ban on improvement of military positions in this zone.

He said the Soviet missile system in Vietnam was much inferior to the Suez Canal defenses. In a rare on-the-record news conference with foreign newsmen, Yariv also estimated there are about 3,000 Soviet technicians, advisers and other personnel in the standstill zone.

At the same time he appeared to confirm U.S. newspaper reports that Washington had just sold Israel a large quantity of armor and artillery. In reply to a question, he smilingly admitted that if the reports were accurate, "technically this is an important contribution" toward offsetting Egypt's new missile advantage.

The Chilean army planned a big funeral today for its commander-in-chief, Gen. Rene Schneider, as police hunted his assassins among Chile's extreme rightists.

A requiem High Mass was to be sung for the slain general in Santiago's Roman Catholic cathedral. His simple wooden coffin was to be placed in the army mausoleum after a caisson cortege through 12 blocks of the city, eulogies by government and military officials and a rifle salute.

Authorities said their investigation indicated that "persons of the ultra-right" planned the shooting Thursday morning at a downtown intersection. Schneider died Sunday morning, less than 24 hours after Congress decisively chose Marxist Salvador Allende president of the republic.

Allende's supporters claimed that rightist conspirators thought Schneider's assassination would spark an army revolt to prevent the socialist senator from taking office. Allende, 62, won a plurality only in the presidential election on Sept. 4, giving Congress the job of choosing between him and a conservative. The vote Saturday was 153-35.

A state of emergency suspending some civil rights was declared Thursday night to facilitate the search for Schneider's assassins. More than 150 persons have been arrested, but only about a dozen remain in jail. The rest were freed after questioning.

Rumors of plots within the army and outside it to keep Allende out of the presidency have circulated for months, and Schneider was considered the most vocal opponent of a break with the military's long-standing tradition of not interfering in politics.

"Gen. Schneider is an example not only for the army but for all of Chile," said the president-elect. "His respect for the constitution cost him his life."

The mourning period and the strict measures of the state of emergency clouded Allende's victory.

The commission's report was made public Sept. 30 and ran into immediate Nixon administration objections. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed it the day it was made public as the product of President Lyndon B. Johnson's Democratic administration.

S. Vietnam Starts Push in Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Spearheaded by two armored columns and supported by American artillery, 6,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed into the war-ravaged Cambodian town of Snuol today in a new offensive.

Informed sources said the American 175mm and 8-inch artillery guns were firing from bases in Vietnam, and there were no American troops with the advancing Vietnamese.

Action was reported light as the drive began Sunday. Two North Vietnamese and a South Vietnamese were reported killed in a brief clash four miles southeast of Snuol, and another South Vietnamese was wounded.

The new dry season offensive by Saigon's forces nearly doubles their strength in Cambodia to half a dozen task forces totaling 17,500 troops. They are operating along three key highways used by the North Vietnamese as supply and infiltration routes into the southern half of South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese headquarters claimed a total of 139 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed in Cambodia since another operation began Saturday. The offensive is aimed at countering a North Vietnamese threat to Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, a region from which American forces are being withdrawn rapidly.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese losses so far are three killed and 31 wounded, a kill ratio of 46 enemy to one South Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia are operating in the Fish Hook region 80 miles north of Saigon and in the Parrot's Beak 50 miles west of Saigon.

Informed sources said American observation planes had spotted "considerable activity" in the Mimot area, and other intelligence information indicated up to a regiment of North Vietnamese troops operating around Snuol.

There are indications, the sources said, that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are trying to move back into the base areas from which American and South Vietnamese forces drove them last May and June.

Six Persons Killed on Highways

Six persons were killed on Arkansas' highways this weekend. Four of the victims were killed Sunday.

Officials said John Lott, 48, of Texarkana was killed shortly before midnight Sunday in a two-vehicle accident on U.S. 67 near Texarkana.

The accident occurred when a tractor-trailer truck driven by James A. Phillips, 35, of Gravette stalled on the highway as he was attempting to make a left-hand turn and was struck by a pickup truck driven by Lott.

State Police said Clifford C. Higgenbotham, 30, and his wife, Elaine, of Hot Springs, were killed Sunday night when a truck in which they were riding collided head-on with another truck on Arkansas 51 about four miles east of Malvern.

Wallace Almond, 47, of Malvern, who was driving the second truck, was not injured, police said.

The other victims were: —Johnny Hucksby, 17, of Van Buren, who was killed early Sunday in a one car accident near Natural Dam (Crawford County).

—Jack Butler, 59, of near Humphrey. He was killed Saturday night in a three-car crash on Arkansas 130 near North Little Rock.

—Adam Harrison, 76, of Athens, Tex., who died Saturday of injuries he received Friday night in a one vehicle accident near Jonesboro.

Baylor, TCU Get Together This Weekend

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

Baylor and Texas Christian—two teams who have done some spooky things to Texas A&M the past two weekends—get together this Halloween Saturday to see how their upset magic works on each other.

Two weeks ago, TCU broke out of the dumps to smash the favored Aggies. A&M inspired Baylor to a similar 29-24 upset victory last Saturday for the Bear's second victory under head coach Bill Beall.

So, the battle between the two Aggie-beaters should form one of the more interesting pairings on the Southwest Conference chart this weekend that also includes Arkansas at Texas A&M, Texas Tech at Rice and Southern Methodist at Texas.

The bristling Bears are still celebrating their homecoming victory.

"How sweet it is!" Beall said. "We've waited a long time for our first SWC win."

Not since the 1968 finale when the Bears defeated Rice had they won a SWC game. They defeated Army earlier this year for their only other victory since Beall took the helm. The Bears are 2-4 going into Saturday's TCU game.

Beall got the game ball but he was quick to point out the stars of the game. "Davis kept making those circus catches all night," Beall said, referring to receiver Derek Davis who snagged 10 passes for 163 yards.

Beall also might have mentioned punter-defensive back Ed Marsh who intercepted a pass and ran it back 54 yards for a touchdown and picked off another to end an Aggie threat in the final minute.

Baylor quarterback Si Southall, making his first start, said, "We didn't think they would play Derek that loose. With single coverage, Davis will eat you up if you do and that's what he did."

Davis said, "Our curl patterns were open all night. They played me looser than anybody we played."

In other SWC matchups last Saturday, second-ranked Texas overcame the offensive sputters to grind under the Rice Owls 45-21; Texas Tech scored in the final 3:12 to break the SMU homecoming Jinx with a 14-10 victory in Lubbock; and ninth-ranked Arkansas used substitutes to trounce tragedy-stricken Wichita State, 62-0.

For Texas Tech, it was a do-or-die situation as far as the SWC race was concerned. Tech already has one league defeat, and another would have meant elimination.

The hero for the Raiders was tough Charles Napper, Tech's slick quarterback, who proved he also can throw touchdown passes from the twilight zone. Shortly before he connected with Johnny Odom for the game's winning touchdown, Napper was knocked dizzy by the stampeding Pony defense.

"He was out cold," said Tech coach Jim Carlen. "We broke a smelling capsule under his nose and it didn't even faze him. But he's a winner. He wouldn't come out of the game."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal and many of the Longhorns themselves felt they played a sloppy game against the Owls. The Horns fumbled three times to halt drives and UT held only a 10-7 advantage at the half.

"That's what I hate about this particular game," said Bill Atessis, "It's frustrating to move the ball all over the field and go in at the half almost behind. But that's what I like about this team. We never let up."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles played his regulars only seven minutes against the Wichita State Shockers, who were stunned last Oct. 2 by a plane crash that killed head coach and 13 players.

"Our trip to Arkansas was good... except for the score," said Wichita State coach Bob Seaman. "If Broyles had left his first unit there all night, it might have been 150-0," said Seaman. "Someday I hope we beat somebody 62-0."

Formula 1 Grand Prix Circuit Over

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Formula 1 Grand Prix circuit is over... and it marks the end of an era in motor sports. Jochem Rindt, the Austrian who got car sick, was officially crowned the champion Formula 1 driver, although he died in a crash over a month ago.

Belgium's Jackie Ickx won Sunday's Mexican Grand Prix, the 13th and final race of the circuit. It was his third triumph—all after Rindt's death—and gave him second place in the championship standings.

It was a year in Grand Prix racing that saw not only Rindt but Bruce McLaren die and marked the final year of competition for the Australian veteran, Jack Brabham.

Ickx wheeled his Ferrari over the 3.2 mile circuit at Mexico City in 1:53:28.36, a Mexican Grand Prix record. His average speed was 106.780 miles per hour and he also had the fastest lap—1:08.491 m.p.h.

There were no injuries as by some miracle, the unruly crowd—estimated at 250,000—avoided disaster. Many rushed on to the track at various times, delaying the start for more than an hour.

"I have never seen anything like this," Ickx said in the pits following his victory. "That was a very bad crowd. The road kept getting narrower and narrower. People were crowding the track on both sides."

After Ickx crossed the finish line, the flag man waved frantically at the drivers trying to get them to stop as soon as possible and not make the customary extra lap.

There were deaths, however, in another Sunday auto race. Three drivers were killed in two separate accidents in what was to have been a gala grand finale for auto racing at the 50-year-old Sacramento, Calif., fairgrounds.

Ickx took the lead in the second lap at Mexico City and increased his margin as the cars continued to wheel around the circuit. Switzerland's Clay Regazzoni was second, followed by Denis Hulme of New Zealand, Chris Amon, also of New Zealand, and France's Jean-Pierre Beltoise.

Brabham, who had announced previously his intention to retire after the Mexican Grand Prix, was in third place for two-thirds

The pair heads a field of seven, two-year-old fillies hoping to cop the $73,502 first prize in this rich 1 1/16 mile test, first of three $100,000 plus stakes to be run at Laurel's new 54-day meeting.

Bonnie and Gay, winner of the Matron and Astoria Stakes and runnerup at Keeneland in the Alcibiades recently, will be ridden by Alvaro Pineda. Patelin, winner of the Alcibiades and Schuylerville, will have Laffit Pincay Jr. aboard.

The rest of the Selima field likely will include Make Me Laugh, a stablemate of Patelin; Isafioridan, who escaped a Garden State fire last Wednesday that destroyed 33 horses; Brave Lady, Brashness and Caroline G.

Jockey Chuck Baltazar moved Drumtop to the outside and took the lead 70 yards from the finish. Jungle Cove placed second in the field of six, 1/4 lengths off the pace and one length ahead of Frenetico.

Drumtop covered the 1 5/8 miles on a soft turf course in a slow 2:50 4/5.

On Saturday, Nodouble failed in a bid to make a successful comeback at Aqueduct after a four-month layoff. A strong second choice, Nodouble ran fifth in the $59,300 Vosburgh Handicap won by Best Turn, $13. A head behind the winner was Truth North, who was a nose ahead of Ocean Bar, the 3-1 favorite.

Best Turn covered the seven furlongs in 1:21 2/5.

Jerry Crow, a 6-1 shot, took the 28th running of the $30,000 Benjamin Franklin Handicap for 3-year-olds at Cherry Hill. Jerry Crow $14.20, carried 114 pounds over the mile and 70 yards in 1:41 2/5.

League's East Division.

Three other Sunday games ended in ties—Montreal 2-2 against Detroit, Vancouver 1-1 against Pittsburgh and New York 2-2 against California. In Sunday's other game, Chicago shut out Buffalo 4-0.

In Saturday night's action, New York topped Minnesota 4-1, Chicago blanked Toronto 1-0, Montreal downed Philadelphia 3-1 and Los Angeles took St. Louis 3-1.

There was an emotional minute-long salute to Green after the big defenseman got the Bruins rolling 4 1/2 minutes into the second period.

The goal cut an early 2-1. Flyer lead in half and 27 seconds later, the Bruins were even when Phil Esposito, the NHL's leading scorer, connected.

The Bruins, who've won five and tied one in six starts, out-shot Philadelphia 22-3 in the second period and went ahead for keeps on John Bucyk's power play goal at 13:10. John McKenzie scored in the final period for the Bruins and Simon Nolet had a pair for the Flyers but this was a night that belonged to courageous Ted Green.

Ironically, Wayne Maki, the man who was involved in the unfortunate fight with Green that resulted in the defense-man's injury, scored a goal for Vancouver Sunday as the Canucks tied Pittsburgh.

Maki's drive banged off the inside post 50 seconds into the second period against the Penguins. Bryan Hextall balanced that one, earning the tie for Pittsburgh.

Detroit ended its Gordie Howe-defense experiment, at least for the time being, and reunited hockey's alltime scoring champ with linemates Alex Delvecchio and Frank Mahov-lich against Montreal.

The move paid immediate dividends with both Howe and Mahovlich scoring and assisting on Gary Bergman's tying goal in the third period.

Yvan Cournoyer clicked twice for the Canadiens—his eighth and ninth goals of the season—and Pete Mahovlich, Frank's kid brother, also scored for Montreal.

Chicago's Tony Esposito, who set a modern record with 15 shutouts last season, turned in his second blanking in as many games, beating Buffalo.

Esposito needed just 17 saves to shutout the Sabres with the Black Hawks getting goals from Stan Mikita, Eric Nesterenko, Jerry Pinder and Pat Stapleton. Referee whistled 82 minutes in penalties—55 to Buffalo including a game misconduct to Reg Fleming.

California's winless streak stretched to eight games as the Seals settled for a tie with New York.

The Rangers came from behind twice on goals by Larry Brown and Jean Ratelle to gain the deadlock after Gary Croteau and Ted Hampson had provided the Seals with short-lived leads in the second and third period.

Thinks Gunman Picked Off All Victims

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) —

A family friend says he believes a gunman shot Virginia Ohta dead in her home and then lay in wait to pick off four more victims.

The friend told an interviewer Sunday he believed the next to die were Dr. Victor M. Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, and one of the Ohta sons she had brought home from school.

Then, the friend said, the evidence suggested that Dr. Ohta arrived with another son, found out what was going on, lunged at the lone killer and was shot dead in turn.

The friend said the last to die appeared to have been the son who came home from school with his father. He said the boy probably was cut down while trying to flee from the killer.

The friend, who had known

Dr. Ohta 15 years, granted an interview only after being assured his name would not be used. He said he based his opinions on information he gathered while working with sheriff's investigators and "a careful re-tracing of events."

John Bailey Frazier, 24, who lived in a shabby cabin about half a mile from Ohta's $250,000 hilltop mansion, has been booked on a warrant charging him with the five slayings.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang Jr. also has said he thinks one person could have killed all five—Dr. Ohta, 45, his wife, 43, their sons Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and Mrs. Cadwallader, 38.

The friend said Mrs. Ohta was alone in the house last Monday afternoon and when she did not show up to pick up the sons, school officials telephoned Dr. Ohta's office.

"I believe the killer got Mrs. Ohta in the afternoon and simply waited for the others to come," the friend said.

Dr. Ohta picked up one son and Mrs. Cadwallader picked up the other boy at a different school, the friend said.

The friend said he believed that when the doctor got home he was met at the front door of his home by the armed killer and ordered to walk to the swimming pool, where the bodies of the three others had been thrown.

"I think he saw the first child's body lying in the pool from the steps and he probably turned and lunged for the killer and got shot under the arm," the friend said.

The killer then finished him off, the friend said.

Police have reported that all the victims were shot once in the back of the head with a .22-caliber bullet, except Dr. Ohta, who was shot three times with a .38—once under the arm, once in the back and once in the back of the head.

The friend said he believed the youngster who came home with his father tried to run but was "cut with a pistol butt across his forehead" and then shot.

Scarves found binding the victims' wrists "were very loosely tied," the friend said.

Straight Talk From Ray Thornton

"Often today we hear the phrase, 'Tell it like it is.' That is a good phrase, but it is not enough. We have the obligation to see it like it is, and tell it like it ought to be; and then work to make what ought to be come true."

Says Nixon Has Failed on Health Issue

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Paul B. Cornely, president of the American Public Health Association, says "President Nixon's attitude toward health has been deadly."

"He hasn't done a thing for health," Cornely asserted at a Sunday news conference.

As a result, he declared, voluntary health organizations are going to have to exert political pressure for the government to do "what needs to be done for the health of the people."

Cornely, professor of community health practice at Howard University, Washington, D.C., said Nixon "has the capability of using words people like to hear and not doing anything about it—words such as 'world harmony' and 'bring us together.'"

Times have changed since 1907.

So have trains...

And so should laws... This is 1970... not 1907.
